Hindu numbers to the
"Computus"

1171

Duncan: Cal

Reiner of Paderborn, dean of the Cathedral at Paderborn in the northern Rhine Valley, wrote a treatise in 1171, "Computus emendatus" that applied the new Hindu numbers and mathematics to the old formulas of "computus" (Cal. calculations) involving the Easter calculation - and proved

That the old 19 - year lunator cycle was misaligned with the true movements of the sun and moon. The error amounted to one day between 315 yrs.
i.e. Every 315 yrs, the 19 yr cycle of lunation was 1 day slipped a day against the Julian calendar.
